

Einstein's Riddle

LearnEdNotebooks.com

The following logic puzzle has become very popular over recent years. Despite the lack of evidence that Albert Einstein actually wrote it, variations of this riddle are still known as "Einstein's Riddle." As a tribute to the great scientist, we challenge you to exercise your mind and give it a try!

There are five houses in five different colors in a row. No two owners are from the same country. Each owner drinks a certain type of beverage, has a certain job and has a certain pet. No owners have the same pet, same job, or drink the same beverage. Can you use the following clues to determine which owner has a fish?

1. The Canadian lives in the red house.
2. The Italian has a dog.
3. The American drinks tea.
4. The green house is on the immediate left of the white house.
5. The green house's owner drinks coffee.
6. The police officer has a bird.
7. The owner of the yellow house is a nurse.
8. The owner living in the center house drinks milk.
9. The Brazilian lives in the first house.
10. The baker lives next to the one who has a cat.
11. The owner who has a horse lives next to the nurse.
12. The artist drinks soda.
13. The German is a teacher.
14. The Brazilian lives next to the blue house.
15. The baker lives next to the one who drinks water.
